LOCAL HISTORY NEWS/MEETINGS/WORKSHOPS

From Antiquarians to Archaeology by Mike Turpin

28th February 2018 7.30m pm Rothwell Community Hub, Marsh St, Rothwell LS26 0AD

The talk will look at how antiquarians studied their past history through a series of case studies in areas that Mike has researched as part of his archaeological hobby. It offers an opportunity to consider how antiquarian writings can contribute to desktop research as part of a community project. Mike as a member of SLA regards himself as a committed community archaeologist. As well as being interested in all things technical, especially when it comes to surveying, he has a strong interest in how the study of antiquities developed into the modern subject of archaeology.
